Over the years, Primeritus has helped hundreds of auto finance lenders and insurance companies recover millions in potential charge-off losses by utilizing License Plate Recognition (LPR) services.

Primeritus' proprietary methodology, combined with our strong network of professional LPR recovery agents, scan tens of thousands of license plates each day, allowing our clients to know exactly where their vehicles are located. Essentially, LPR technology records an image of the license plate and vehicle, along with the exact GPS coordinates of that vehicle. This information is transmitted instantly from our technology provider, to our service center, for real-time collateral recovery.
